

LITERARY ONOMASTICS STUDIES
VOLUME XV (1988)

Table of Contents

Names, Naming, and Nature in The Tale of Genji by Elissa Kido	1
Women's Names in the English Renaissance Elegy by Dorothy E. Litt	7
"It's All in the Name": Amorous Vision and Poetic Creativity in Ronsard's Sonets pour Helene by Donald Gilman	15
The Seven Wonders and the Seven Hills in Du Bellay's Les Antiquitez de Rome by Betty J. Davis	23
Ambiguity and Destruction Through the Naming Process in Reivindicación del Conde don Julián and Recuento by Antonio Sobejano-Morán	31
"Espíritu Sin Nombre": Names in Bécquer by Susan Lynch and Alfred Rodriguez	39
Joyce Cary's Onomastic "Orchestration": Name, Symbol, and Theme in The Horse's Mouth by Ramona Kelley Stamm	43
Jacob and Joseph as Character Names in Modern Literature by Russell E. Brown	51
Naming in Philip Roth's Goodbye, Columbus by William A. Francis	59
Disappearing Letters and Breaking Rules: John Irving as Namer by Jack D. Wages	63
Patrick Modiano's La Place de l'Etoile: Why Name a Narrator "Raphaël Schlemilovitch"? by Charles O'Keefe	67
"Up to a Point": Onomastic Devices and Satire in Evelyn Waugh's Scoop by Leonard R.N. Ashley	75